Re: New York Times, et al., v. Federal Aviation Administration, 24 Civ. 4226 (LJL)

Dear Judge Liman:

This Office represents the Federal Aviation Administration (the “FAA” or the “government”) in this action brought by plaintiffs The New York Times and Mark Walker (“plaintiffs”) pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”), 5 U.S.C. § 552. We write jointly with plaintiffs to provide a status report, as required by the Court’s September 30, 2024 Order, ECF No. 19.

The four FOIA requests at issue here broadly concern Boeing airplanes. See Compl., Dkt. No. 1, ¶¶ 13-18. As we noted in previous letters, the government has completed its response to three of the requests.

The final request (see Compl. Ex. E) seeks material submitted by Boeing related to 737 Max 9 jet door plugs. As we noted in our last letter, the responsive records require coordination with Boeing to review for potential exemption 4 material. The government’s consultation with Boeing has taken longer than originally expected, both because of certain substantive questions and because of the Thanksgiving holidays. The government now expects to complete processing these records (including all consultation) and make a production by December 16. Plaintiffs do not object to this revised schedule.

Under the Court’s September 30 Order, the parties’ next joint status report is due by Friday, January 3.

We thank the Court for its attention to this matter.

Respectfully submitted,

DAMIAN WILLIAMS
United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York
